Digital business models for the Industrial Internet in China – Georg Stielor

Georg Stielor is the Managing Director of STM China. STM is a German consulting firm providing market insights and business development services for technology companies. Clients of the branch in Shanghai include companies such as ABB, Bosch and Daimler.

Mr. Stielor started STM's office in Shanghai in 2011. Together with his team, he supports suppliers and operators of robotics, sensors and CNC-systems in the region. He constitutes the base for STM's extensive knowledge about the Chinese automation industry and has become one of the leading independent experts in this field. In this function, Georg frequently lends his expertise to investors and startups from Europe, the US and China.

Mr. Stielor serves as a member of the Advisory Board of Motus Operandi, a software company for smart robotics motion from Hong Kong.

Mr. Stielor is frequently being quoted on the Industrial IoT by leading German and international publications (Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, Handelsblatt, Wirtschaftswoche, Robotics Business Review, OECD, etc.) and is a prominent speaker (e.g. Industrial Internet Consortium (IIC), RoboBusiness, the German Engineering Federation (VDMA), the German Electrical and Electronical Manufacturers' Association (ZVEI), TEDx Shanghai, etc.).

News from the world

- by PP Roger Owens

On Monday, 30th April PP Roger Owens gave a presentation on Rotary in China to the members of the Rotary Club of Dublin.

The Rotary Club, Dublin was founded in 1911 and was the first Rotary Club outside North America, so it was particularly fitting that a member from the first Rotary Club in China and second in Asia should speak at the first Rotary Club outside North America.

The shows our dear Roger with President Bernadette Mulvey, the third female president. The Club PE is also a lady, originally from the Philippines.

Our meeting started by Rtn. Mark Hunziker leading the Four Way Test followed by Dave introducing visiting Rotarians and guests. During the meeting ahead planning was offered together with the report over the past week activities. PP Andrew reported about the Friendship Tree Planting that happened on previous Thursday by showing us pictures and reminding this is just the beginning of the relationship with Fudu School for Special Need Children., in fact we plan to visit the school every year to see kinds and tree blooming. Tiziana then reported about Youdao Family Day on previous Saturday in a kindergarten far in Jiading. The activity was well attended by Rotarians and friends and everyone witnessed the fun day. Michel reported about the tree planting project far in Qinghai province. The project starts with the planting of about 100 trees per RCS members and it will be a great impact on China and for the region from the economic point of view. The planting started with the supervision of the local partner who sent so many wonderful pictures. In the future anyone who wants to join and see the planting please contact Michel directly for details as logistic in the sensitive area of Qinghai is complex and requires some time to organize but anyone is more than welcome. Diane offered some appreciation certificates to those members who kindly contributed to Swimathon organized at SCIS Hongqiao but where not present when Ludovic, Chair or Youth Committee, distributed during past dinner meeting.

Classification time saw the moment of Charles Van Temsche. He told us about his industry, Enginery, with a wider point of view because it was in 2008 that he understood that only caring about every single aspect of a business he could have helped companies growing. This ability is what makes him capable of moving form a business to another, from F&B to enginery and who knows, the next step should be Cosmetics. Saddle time tonight was up to Dave and our good friend and Rotarian Peter Bromberger rang the shiny bell in honour of the new born baby. Congratulation daddy!

Then our Club Assembly started and, differently from the past ones, it has been interactive. President Motosan introduced several topics, from annual dues changes to meeting style, from fellowship events to Service projects and all the presents were invited to share their opinion and give suggestions. At the end there was still time for any other topics present members wanted to talk about. It has been very interesting because it gave each of us the possibility to express our ideas. The Club is flexible and it can grow bigger an more compact if everyone contributes to it. Union make stronger, we become stronger to Make a Difference.

After interesting discussion and suggestions offered by several members President Motosan offered our traditional toast to good projects. More of them, cheers!
